Labour History is the story of every one of us who has ever held down or looked for a job, or joined an industrial or political labour organisation. It is the inclusive socio-economic and political story of all kinds of workers, the great bulk of the people who depend on wages, be they blue or white collar, of any race or ethnicity, sexuality or gender, and of the relations between employers and employees, of labour leaders and the rank and file... It is the study of the history of the 99%. Come and participate as labour history scholars discuss this fascinating sub-discipline of democratic historical enquiry.
